ABSTRACT

This invention provides a method and a diagnostic kit that utilizes phycoerythrin to label tumor cells, wherein the high specificity and high affinity of phycoerythrin is to be used to label and enter tumor cells. With effective amount of phycoerythrin and suitable wavelength of light, the stimulated fluorescence from phycoerythrin can be used for tumor diagnosis.